Mrs. H. Sudworth Passed Away Last Thursday Morning

Died in Hospital After Lengthy Illness; Funeral Held on Sunday

Coleman lost another longtime resident last Thursday morning when Mrs. Harriet Sudworth 69, passed away at the local hospital at 11:30 a.m. Deceased had a quiet and friendly disposition and was well liked by all. During the past few years she was widowed and had required both doctor and hospital attention on several occasions.

She was born at West Point, Newfoundland in 1883 and married Mr. Jack Sudworth in 1918 at Glace Bay, N.S. In 1925 in company with her daughters Ruth and Alice she came to Coleman where her husband had arrived the previous year.

Deceased was fond of knitting and knitted by the hour. She purchased the raw wool and spun it into yarn on her old spinning wheel.

Funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, a short service being conducted at the family residence by Rev. J. E. Kirk and later at St. Paul's United church. Hymns sung were "Abide With Me" and "Sands of Time Are Sinking." Pallbearers were Messrs. W. Dibble, E. Weir, R. Gillies, J. Nash, J. Morrison, and S. Janostak. Interment was in the Union cemetery.

Surviving are the husband, and daughters Ruth and Alice. A brother resides in Newfoundland.

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks are expressed to Dr. H. Claxton, Matron E. V. Wood and her staff for their kindness shown to our dear wife and mother. Also to those who sent floral tributes and cards and letters of sympathy and who loaned cars during our recent bereavement. The Sudworth Family.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Editor, The Journal,

Dear Sir:

Please consider this letter an appeal to the different organizations that function in Coleman to approach the Coleman Light and Water Co. in regards free service to the men in H. M. Forces.

The towns each side of Coleman are helping the cause by supplying coal, water and light and in some cases rent free. Reading over one of the late issues of the Coleman Journal we find that the Light & Water Co. found they could grant a free service for the month of May. The boys overseas would really appreciate an effort to relieve some of the burden carried by our wives and dependents who in turn are in this struggle for freedom, trying to keep a home for the boys to come back to.

Wishing you space in your paper to publish this appeal.

Yours truly,

LETHBRIDGE COUNCIL RE-QUEST BEER PARLORS BE PUT OUT OF BOUNDS FOR JAPANESE AND HUTTERITES

Lethbridge council appears to have taken the lead in the province against the sale of liquor in beer parlors to Japanese and Hutterites. The council has requested the Alberta Liquor Control Board to make all beer parlors in Lethbridge out of bounds to all Japanese and Hutterites.

Said Mayor Elton "Keeping these people out of beer parlors is a measure for their own protection."

It is expected that the council's request will be given sympathetic consideration by the Liquor Board as some minor disputes appear to have already arisen between these people and others in city beer parlors.

Wm. Cole to be Host to Air Cadets on Saturday

Wm. Cole, proprietor of the Palace Theatre, will be host to the Air Cadets on Saturday afternoon at a showing of "Target For To-Night." It is a film made by the R.A.F. to show how an air raid is planned and carried out over Nazi Germany. The Cadets will parade through main street before entering the theatre.

Theatre Notes

To-night and Friday at the Palace is a picture released by the U.S. R.R. showing actual war scenes in Russia. It shows the front lines, the armed forces, equipment, factories, mines, death and destruction, transportation facilities and above all show the need required by all to put forth their every effort to support the war efforts.

A good feature is the "Person From Frontline."

At the week-end we top-notch stars Ginger Rogers and Adolphe Menjou appear in "Rosie Hart." It is a story full of humor. As a special attraction which should be highly educational comes an R.A.F. picture "Target For To-Night." It was made by the R.A.F. and shows how a raid is planned and carried out.

With Colemanites Now Residing At The Pacific Coast

July has come and gone and with many local citizens' vacations. Many had the good fortune to spend two blissful months in the blue Pacific and to wander aimlessly through Vancouver's famous Stanley Park.

The city's stores were filled with eye appealing merchandise which could empty one's pocketbook with the greatest of ease.

Ye Ed saw Mike "Peg" Ossinuk wending his way down the street. We failed to see him again.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Devine were holidaying in the city and it is reliably reported that Mr. Devine had to be admitted to a city hospital shortly after his arrival.

as was also Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Gate and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gate and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Tiffi and family. We met Wif. on the street. He is located close to the beach and states he is enjoying his trip immensely.

Alf. Destobel is also employed in the shipyards and wished to be remembered to his friends.

Walking past Hudson Bay store one morning we met Gordon Miller. His hair had been badly sunburned and the skin was burned to a pulp. He looked like a pinhead and stated "I was getting along nicely."

He was in company with a young man from Fernie who was seeking employment in the city.

Another young Coleman man we met on the street was Joe Mahovitch. Joe had arrived a few weeks prior to our meeting him. He was working at the shipyards. About an hour later we were told that friends were on the lookout for him as his medical notice call had been sent him by military authorities.

A history making event while we were in the city took place when the first Catalina flying boat built by Boeing in Vancouver went up on its first flight. The new 15-ton monster was seen flying above the city and created much interest among the citizens. Sitting on the broadcast truck at the airfield was Chalius Easton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Easton.

While golfing at Stanley Park's pitch and putt course we were caught by the arm by Rev. Richard Upton, former Bellevue United church minister and now of Calgary. He, and we suppose Mrs. Upton, had been in the city for a few days and expected to be there two weeks. "Dick" had just completed his game and was with some friends.

We failed to see Mr. and Mrs. A. Irvine but enquiry revealed that they had purchased their own home and that "Sandy" has shown marked improvement in health since going to the coast.

Riding in a street car one afternoon we met "Hello" to Mrs. Roy Savage, nee Margaret Miller.

We also met Mrs. Wm. Penman, son of which, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Anderson, Jackie Anderson is residing with his sister and is employed at the shipyards.

In company with Mr. and Mrs. A. Walker one evening we met Mr. and Mrs. Tom Duncan, of Bellevue Inn. They had been on a sightseeing cruise up the coast and had just returned to the city.

Some time was spent with Mr. and Mrs. Lou Thomas, formerly of Blairmore. Mr. Thomas is now employed at the shipyards and both appear to be enjoying city life.

In our conversations with many of the above mentioned persons all were unanimous that they would not like to come to the Pass to live again. Some were emphatic on that point while others would not commit themselves that they would not come back.

Mrs. Cornett, who is spending the summer months in the city, was seen in Stanley Park attending the various concerts sponsored by the B.C. Electric Company.

Before leaving the city our scout saw Mrs. W. Gauke and son, Billy Leier, Adj. Gardner, and a youth named Andrews who played hockey here last winter. Mr. and Mrs. E. Henriet and Evelyn came the last day to say "Hello". Mr. Henriet is working in the shipyards.

Afeat of enormous proportions recorded was that of Mrs. Harry Bowes. She drove her car via the Canadian route without relief having as her passengers Mr. and Mrs. Henriet and three daughters Mrs. W. Raymond and son Bill and her own daughter Jeanne.

Recruiting Party To Visit Here Next Tuesday

Desire Men for the Veterans Guard and Women for the C.W.A.C.; Local Committee in Charge of Arrangements.

A concerted drive is at present being made throughout the District 13 for recruits for the Veterans Guard of Canada and the Canadian Women's Army Corps.

Tuesday, August 11, at 3:15 p.m. a recruiting party will be in Coleman to interview men and women desirous of enlisting in their respective divisions. Veterans of the last war are favored for the Veterans Guard, and the members of the C.W.A.C. are urged only approach Messrs. McBurney, T. Rose or W. Martland and an interview will be arranged with an officer of the recruiting party.

The party will have their headquarters in the Legion club while here. Any young men wishing to enlist in the active service forces can have their applications received by any officer of the recruiting party. Call Back Old Comrades

Once again Canada is calling more old comrades back to the colors it is revealed with the recent announcement from Colonel H. R. Alley, officer commanding the Veterans Guard of Canada, that 2500 men, not over the age of fifty years, are required immediately.

Major J. H. Gainor, M.C., district recruiting officer of Military District No. 13, has announced that the campaign begins the morning of August 10, 1942, four mobile recruiting units of the Veterans Guard of Canada will set out in four different directions and will cover practically every town and village in the province of Alberta, seeking recruits for the Veterans Guard of Canada.

The officer in charge of this district will be Major F. J. Jenkins, adjutant of the 14th (Res.) Army Tank Battalion, (Calgary Regiment), who will cover the territory south of Calgary to include Macleod, Pincher Creek, and Crows Nest Pass.

Special representation is being made to the Department of National Defence at Ottawa to have the age limit raised from fifty to fifty-five years.

The Veterans Guard of Canada companies are called upon for service in this war in many parts of the Empire. Three new units of the Veterans Guard have recently arrived overseas in various parts of the Empire, in addition to those already despatched, with men chosen proportionately from all the units of the Guard in Canada.

New duties have arisen in Canada necessitating the formation of six new companies and enlistment is for service anywhere in the world and not for the purpose of "home defence" only, as is generally believed. Veterans of every trade and occupation are required, with dues and training planned in the light of physical abilities of the men of fifty.

Our Hours Of Leisure

Are Usually Much More Enjoyable After Period Of Work

I think it is almost as important that people should make as good use of periods of leisure as of hours of labor. The period of leisure is becoming ever more important now that it is better assured than it was a generation ago. One of the first essentials to the enjoyment of leisure is that it should have been preceded by a period of work.

I am sure there is not one of the idle rich who really enjoys as much as the man who has worked before he enjoyed his leisure. The man who knows how to spend his leisure in the way which he will really enjoy is going to work all the better for having the prospect of leisure before him. The best use of leisure is change of occupation, and doing things you really enjoy. That is more lasting pleasure than any form of entertainment.—Viscount Grey.

Solves Problem

How To Meet The Greatly Increased Income Tax

Jacqueline Sprung, 18-year-old Toronto city hall switchboard operator, has the solution to the problem of how to meet the greatly increased income taxes. Her answer is a "Victory budget."

Miss Sprung who says she always tries to live on a strict budget, has designed one to absorb the increased "take" out of her pay envelope. Her salary is only about $14.40 a week, but her tax for 1942, according to her figures will be $79.50.

Like hundreds of other working girls, Miss Sprung has already given up silk stockings. She wears none at all, not even painted ones, to work.

"It was a little embarrassing with bare legs at first," she said. "But most of the girls are doing it now, and it saves worry about runs as well as money." She saves leg paint for dances and parties.

Her is her victory budget. Salary about $14.40 per week:

	Present Budget	Victory Budget
Board	$5.00	$5.00
Lunches	1.25	1.00
Entertainment75	.75
Clothes	4.00	3.70
Cosmetics	1.10	.90
Taxes80	1.54
Entertainment	1.00	.76
War stamps50	.75
Total	$14.40	$14.40

The increased tax, Miss Sprung met by "stealing a little" from entertainment and cosmetics. Not satisfied with this contribution to the war effort, patriotic Miss Sprung stole another quarter from lunches and tacked it on war savings stamps, an item which has been in her budget ever since they were offered for sale.

Clothes, the largest item in Miss Sprung's budget, outside of board, suffered relatively slight injury.

"I think it is our duty to keep presentable," she said. "We can't go around looking frowny; that wouldn't help keep chins up."

Dream Of Designer

Russian Builder Of Planes Aims At Comfort, Not Speed

When Oliver Lyttelton landed in Britain from America he had the distinction of being one of the first passengers to cross the Atlantic in the giant Sikorsky flying-boat Excalibur, whose initial flight was planned along five years ago.

American Export Air Lines, Inc. have fought valiantly at Washington for a permit to rival the subsidized Clipper service, but Pan-American Airways (who run the Clippers) remained victorious. Now, under war urgencies, the battle is apparently over.

Among other priority passengers in the Excalibur were Lord Moore, personal private secretary to Mr. Lyttelton, and C. R. Morris, Raw Materials Division of the office of the Minister of Production.

The flight is a reminder of the long air history of the designer, Igor Sikorsky. He began building at Kiev early this century; had a hard battle. In 1913 he built the first airworthy multi-motorized plane, and during the last war constructed 72 four-motored bombers for the Russians.

His peace ambitions incline to comfort rather than speed. Transoceanic planes with 50 State rooms, dining-cum-lounges, promenade decks, smoking lounges and a library are his target.—London Daily Sketch.

BACON FOR BRITAIN

An indication of what Canadian farmers are doing to help Britain win the war is the announcement from Ottawa that not less than 600,000,000 pounds of bacon and pork products will be shipped to Britain this year. More is now being delivered in a single week than in the whole of 1931.

Aged U.S. Senator Has Right Idea About Axis Nations

Sen. George W. Norris, Ind., Neb., veteran Liberal member of Congress, proposed on the eve of his 81st birthday that the United Nations prepare to watch Germany, Italy and Japan for "at least 50 years" after this war to guarantee against rearming.

Norris, one of the "little group of wilful men" who opposed United States entrance into World War I, said in an interview:

"The peace terms of this war must include complete and total disarmament of Germany, Italy and Japan. Every vestige of armament in those nations must be destroyed, including the factories that are capable of producing those armaments."

"For a period of at least 50 years, those countries should be watched to guarantee that they make no new weapons. A committee should be established which would have the authority to visit and report on any plant where it is suspected that they are making munitions."

"When the rulers of the Axis have been destroyed, only the common people will be left. I am confident that they will welcome disarmament and be ready to divert their energies to other channels where humanity can well be served."

Norris predicted that the Axis would go down to a crushing defeat. But should it win he said, Adolf Hitler will turn on Italy and Japan and "lick his allies."

California Woman Made Sure Dog Would Live In Luxury

Huskie, a little black terrier, will live in luxury for the rest of his life under the terms of a will left by his owner, Mrs. White. She bequeathed the dog her home in Los Angeles, where he is "to sleep in a bed, eat good, lean round steak cooked and fed to him warm, drink clean fresh water, and never be scolded or whipped."

Huskie also receives an expensive automobile so that he may be taken whenever possible for a ride, whenever drives him to see that he has a nice chicken dinner, not bones and chicken."

When the dog dies, the will provides that he is to be taken to Parker, Ariz., where Mrs. White is buried, "and placed at the corner of my feet."

Mrs. White's parrot, Polly, and her canaries are also provided for in the will, which gives similarly detailed instructions for their care.

Other bequests from the $8,200 estate are made to friends and relatives.

Russian Women Would Help On Front Line If Needed

Anyone who calls women the weaker sex hasn't been to Russia. Rocking the cradle or wielding a pick—it's all the same to the distaff half of the Soviet Union.

British United Press Correspondent M. S. Handler took a trip down the Volga river and across the Caspian. And behind the front he saw Russian women doing everything men do and never letting the men get ahead of them.

The hand that rocks the Russian cradle also takes time out to run a locomotive or to operate an oil barge, or to serve as ship's officers, deck hands or stevedores. Correspondent Handler says he's seen Russian women labor for six hours straight lifting and carrying huge packing cases with only brief rest periods. Handler says of Russian women:

"Should the day arrive when they are needed on the front line, Russia would suffer no shortage of women eager and capable of moving into the battle as fighting units."

TIPT ABOUT CANDLES

If you keep your candles in the refrigerator, they'll melt and will burn much longer when lighted. Also, decorative candles may be kept from melting down in warm weather if given a light coat of varnish.

SAFEGUARD HEALTH

Excessive hours of work, according to a recent report of the British Industrial Health Research Board, are, excepting for very short periods, utterly wasteful. A maximum work-week of from 60 to 65 hours for men and between 52 and 60 hours for women is recommended for best results during the war. As regards married women, special shifts are recommended so as to safeguard their health, reduce the labour turnover and loss of working time. The provision of the day nursery and other child welfare services for working mothers is a national program in Britain.

A maximum war production program recommended editorially by the Toronto Star suggests the installation of facilities such as are serving the British workers and an increasing number of American workers. These facilities are restaurants where the employees may secure nourishing meals at nominal prices; medical services to prevent the development of serious illnesses, at a price they can afford to pay; rest periods and recreation services to give their minds and nervous systems rest and refreshment.

Ensures No Wastage

Britain Is Now Using New System For Reclaiming Rubber

Reclaiming rubber is usually a long and costly process, because it must be re-formed into raw material and then re-manufactured into the article required. But a new system has come into operation in Britain whereby scrap tires are utilized for the direct manufacture of certain articles. The process is simple, and ensures no wastage. The tread and undercarriage are made into a compound for manufacturing such essential goods as rubber soles for heels, baby carriages, tires, brake blocks, washers and other items invaluable for mechanical purposes. The body or carcass of the tire is made into other articles by far the most important being repair patches. Old tires turned into washers for vehicles, insulation and mounting pads, the latter preventing wear and friction when the body is mounted on the chassis.—Brandon Sun.

TEA ECONOMY

Now that tea is on the list of items to be conserved, we can learn from the experience of the people in England. They found out, many months ago, that this is a good recipe: "Before using tea, spread on sheet of brown paper and place in warm—not too hot—oven for ten minutes." As a result, they say, the tea will go twice as far and have a better flavor.—Brampton Expositor.

"This section is so unsociable; I've lived here five months and had no callers."

NOTES AND COMMENTSMore Co-ordination Needed for War Effort

Early in the war selective service was proposed in many quarters, but the Federal government took the view that until such time as dire emergencies arose, voluntary enlistment would be sufficient. This policy is still in force for the overseas forces, with the result that there is competition between the armed forces, the munitions manufacturers and industrial plants to obtain man power. Left to get along the best way he can is the farmer who is in dire straits for labor with the harvest approaching.

In time of war people will submit to leadership provided they see that it is efficient and works for the common good. In the Crows Nest Pass the miners unions are complaining that owing to experienced miners joining the armed forces, inexperienced men are employed to take their places. Mining is a hazardous industry at the best of times, so that if inexperienced men are employed to any great extent, the hazards are increased. These instances show that the hit-and-miss policy of voluntary enlistment for total war is not good enough, for the home front in this war in each of the warring countries is as vitally important as the fighting front, though the risks to life may not be as great.

Premier King has shown vacillation in his war policy, somewhat to the annoyance of his leading cabinet ministers, who have urged more forceful leadership. The people realize that total war means more than just giving up a few of the things to which we have been accustomed. Instead of Premier King leading, he has been forced into belated action by public opinion. Ordinarily governments move no faster than public opinion compels them to, but in time of war more vigorous action is vitally necessary. The Allied Nations are at war with aggressive nations who do not consult the people, but take direct action. We cannot win with kid glove methods.

The Value of Tourist Trade

When appropriations for promoting tourist travel from the United States to Canada were first mooted, many were skeptical of the value. Those who did not receive direct benefit in increased business did not hesitate to condemn the expenditure. Yet from records of the Canadian Travel Bureau, it was shown that a sum beyond all expectations was derived from the influx of tourists to Canada. It amounted to millions of dollars of American money being spent here. An individual can gain some idea of the amount spent by totalling his own expenditures when he goes on a motor trip.

The value of the traffic is brought home forcibly to all now that gasoline and tire rationing are in effect. When people move around, they have to spend money. Now the money they would ordinarily spend will be used in taxes, war savings certificates and for purposes which have a direct bearing on the war. If we want to remain free, we must do these things as cheerfully as possible.

No Real Sacrifice Yet in Rationing

The Calgary Herald had an arresting headline to its editorial column on Monday—"Tea and Coffee and Poppycock." It quoted a statement issued by the head of the Warne Price and Trade Board, Ottawa, which said "it was realized that tea and coffee ration means a considerable sacrifice for a large majority of Canadians, but expressed the hope that Canadians are ready for belt-tightening because they realize the life and death nature of the struggle and the seriousness of the shipping situation."

Really, Canadians have made no sacrifices so far in this war. We have been given an opportunity to invest our savings at a fair rate of interest; we will pay more taxes; it is true, but we have been safe from having a life's savings wiped out or having our businesses ruined. It is namby-pamby to talk about belt-tightening when all we are asked to do is to go light on tea, coffee and sugar. The people are sick of being talked to as if they are a lot of softies or pansy waists.

What If There Is a Hell?

Letters to the Editor in various newspapers are interesting, for like the harangues of soap-box orators in Hyde Park, London, many strange ideas and theories are ventilated. Dean Ragg of the Anglican cathedral in Calgary recently told his flock that the old conception of hell-fire and brimstone was so much "phooey" (he didn't use the word, but he doubtless meant it.) As expected, this brought some indignant criticism from some of the old school who believe it is a good thing to have the impression remain that hell is really a hell of a place, and that if you have sinned greatly you will go into everlasting torment. If people like to dwell on the fact that hell is a fiery furnace where you never burn up but are eternally roasted and still retain your soul identity, they are welcome to it. A person who leads a life patterned as closely as possible on the golden rule never needs to worry if he will go to either heaven or hell. There are always some who would take the joy out of life, who never rejoice, and who take themselves far too seriously. Life to be enjoyed must be made up of light and shadow. Each individual has his own philosophy of life, and his own conception of what happens after he shuffles off this terrestrial sphere. Why worry?

Weekly Newspapers Editors Will Meet in Saskatoon

President Walter Legge States Motif of Convention—"Our Part in Bringing Total Victory."

On August 13-14-15 the 23rd annual convention of Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association will be held at Saskatoon in the Bessborough hotel, one of the fine hotels of the Canadian National Railways. There will be a representative gathering of editors and publishers from all provinces. The rule is to meet each year in a different province. Last year it was held in Quebec, with post-convention trip by Canada Steamship Lines from Quebec to the Saguenay River.

A feature of these conventions is the Better Newspapers Competition, whereby competing papers are grouped in specified classifications and points awarded by independent judges prior to the convention, on typography, general advertising, editorial and news matter, etc. Trophies are awarded to the winners at the convention. As a result of these conventions there has been marked improvement in weekly newspapers since they were started several years ago.

The membership of the C.W.N.A. now is 533, a record in the history of the association, which was organized in 1919, prior to which it was included in the Canadian Press Association, all daily and weekly newspapers up to that time being in the one organization. With the growth of the weeklies a separate organization was formed, with its own paid managing director. The present holder of the office is Clarence V. Charters, of Brampton, Ont., under whose guidance the association has been developed to its present high standing.

The president, Walter R. Legge, in his pre-convention message, states:

"Our convention meets this year in the very heart of Canada—in beyond doubt—the most critical year of the war. Paramount in the minds of all will be the question of what the weekly newspapers can do to bring victory. I'm going to suggest that we make the motif of our convention—"our part in bringing total victory."

SHOULD LEARN ENGLISH

(Barrie Examiner)
While attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Medical Association at Jasper Park, Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe of Callander, physician for the Dionne quintuplets for seven and a half years after their birth, said in an interview that he feels it is a "great mistake" the quintuplets are not being taught to speak English. The great majority of the residents of Ontario agree with Dr. Dafoe. There is no reason why these children should not have instruction in the language of their parents but English should have at least equal prominence in this English speaking province. And this should apply in all our schools where children of French parents attend. This is only fair to the children for they cannot expect to reach a position of any importance in Ontario without a good knowledge of the English language. It is surprising especially as they are wards of the province that the government stands for what is little less than deliberate defiance of the law. Yes, by all means let them learn French, but by the same token see that they are taught English.

"There has arisen among some people a genuine fear that they will be unable to carry the burden of these new taxes," Mr. Isley said. "This has been reflected to some extent in the cancellation of War Certificate purchases."

In a great number of cases, people who had sought definite information about their personal taxes were surprised and relieved when they found how much they would actually be required to pay.

Compensation Committee Resumed Hearings Aug. 4

Alberta's Legislative Committee studying workings of the Workmen's Compensation Act will resume hearings in the Capital August 4, fortified with first-hand knowledge of how miners and lumber workers face the hazards of their calling. Committee members have been on a tour of inspection through a number of industrial plants, and Chairman Dr. J. L. Robinson said "The co-operation we received from the operators at the mines was very good. They went out of their way to show us every phase of operation." Members declared "we were determined to find out for ourselves just what causes accidents that take a toll of lives and injuries. As a result, we believe we have a good mental picture as a background for the hearings commencing August 4." A heavy agenda faces the Committee.

Canada Still Needs More Tin

It is an offence not to return tin tubes to any store having receptacles to receive them, for Canada urgently needs the half million pounds of tin available from this source to carry on the war. Her sources of tin ore were lost with the fall of British Malaya and the Dutch East Indies, as well as the tin smelters.

Tin from 250 tooth paste tubes is required in the building of one Bolingbroke bomber. Tin from one tube of sunburn soother will plate 20 water canteens. Tin from one tooth paste tube will supply parts for 20 shell cases.

Tin is needed urgently for the war effort. Turn over used collapsible tubes to the stores prepared to receive them. In some general and departmental stores, all collect them for Wartime Salvage Limited. Canada's call for tin is an S.O.S.

In September the power of the station will be increased to 1,000 watts which will enable it to be heard throughout the South.

Wanted—"An Opopogo"

Rocky Mountain House, a town west of Red Deer, gained notoriety through the imitation of small boys who claimed they saw a red-eyed, horned monster with mouth big enough to swallow a boy while they were swimming. The Okanagan Lake district in British Columbia was the first district that started this form of publicity, which always excites popular curiosity and a certain amount of credence. Then there was the Lake Ness monster in Scotland. But none of these monsters ever appear to have been caught, so it is presumed they either are figments of the imagination or are wise enough to make only very rare appearances. Surely the Old Man River running through Macleod and to regions beyond should cook up something to make it famous.

Nazis Face Difficulties

DURING THE THREE YEARS of the war the Nazis have had many victories and have acquired many thousands of square miles of territory. Up until the present time in most cases it has appeared that Hitler has had the advantage of greater numbers of men and machines, and frequently time has also been his ally. It has often been pointed out that as his conquests increased so did his responsibilities, and if one may judge by the stories which from time to time reach the outside world from Occupied Europe, it appears that the enforcing of the New Order must take much of the time and attention of the conquering Fuehrer. The activities of the "underground army" in Europe have been combatted by wholesale murder of the conquered peoples yet they do not decrease and will no doubt continue until the armies of the United Nations join them in force in a drive towards the heart of Germany.

Other forces, at which Hitler cannot strike as easily as he can at defenceless people, are also working against him. From time to time there have been stories of food shortages in Europe. Recently Joseph W. Grigg, writing from London for the British Press, reported that the German radio had admitted that eight million acres of crops were destroyed by the extreme cold last winter, which was said to be the most severe in one hundred and fifty years. The coming harvest is expected to be very small, for bad weather and insects have retarded growth, and there is said to be a shortage of six hundred thousand farm workers. Potatoes and other vegetables Mr. Grigg reports, are more scarce than they have been since 1918, and vegetables are being rationed at the rate of one pound a person each week. Farmers in Germany have been ordered to give their entire crops to the government, keeping nothing for themselves. For violation of this law, the Gestapo has decreed penalties ranging from fines of one hundred thousand marks to death.

Hatred Is Growing There is also reported to be a grave shortage of fats and butter, and due to weather conditions there is an acute lack of fodder for cattle. The report continues that similar conditions exist in France, where farmers are selling such products as they have on the "Black Markets" rather than through government regulations. Although Hitler has sent many German workers to the Ukraine in an attempt to gather supplies, it is thought unlikely that he will receive a great deal from there, where the crop is said to be poor. With increased food restrictions it is unlikely that the already poorly-fed people of Europe will feel more kindly toward those who have brought all this misery upon them. Although the Nazis may yet win a few more battles with men and machines, there is inevitably growing a tide of revolution in Europe, which linked with the growing striking power of the United Nations, will one day bring about the end of Hitler's New Order and of all those who aided in its prosecution. It is known that starvation of the population in Germany had a great deal to do with her final collapse in 1918, and there is no doubt that this force is beginning to work again, and that it will be one of the weapons which will again bring about the defeat of the enemy.

Britain's Spitfires

Woman Played Vital Part In Development Of Famous Fighters

"In 1931," writes William Winter in the current issue of the aviation magazine Flying, "Lady Lucy Houston unwittingly prepared for Britain the priceless Spitfire lineage. She put up nearly a half million dollars to finance the 1931 British Schneider Trophy team, the Air Council having lost interest in further competition on England's part. It was that team that won the famed trophy outright for England."

Before that, Lady Houston had financed the flight over Mount Everest. An English aviation correspondent, with whom the writer talked recently, pictured Lady Houston as a strong-willed, purposeful woman who was determined to do something worth while with her millions. According to this story, she had moved to the tax-free Isle of Jersey in the English Channel because of a tax dispute in England. Still she financed the winning Schneider team and according to hearsay, the original Vickers Wellington bomber.

Thanks to Lady Houston, who seems to have had more aviation foresight than either the British or American Government in those days, R. J. Mitchell (designer of the Spitfire) was able to continue his experiments and finally to produce one of the greatest fighting ships of the present war."

Goes To Britain

J. G. Robertson Appointed Agricultural Commissioner For Canada

J. G. Robertson, who for the last 23 years has been livestock commissioner for Saskatchewan, has been appointed agricultural commissioner for Canada in Great Britain. He succeeds the late Dr. William Allen, who died at 82 as the result of enemy action in May, 1941.

Mr. Robertson was born at Churchville, N.S., in 1890. He graduated from Macdonald Agricultural College, McGill University, in 1912, with the degree of Bachelor of Science, Agriculture. For four years following his graduation he was livestock manager and assistant general manager, Dethon Farms, Davidson, Sask. He went overseas in 1916 and served in France with the 11th Battalion, C.E.F., and was severely wounded at Vimy Ridge in 1917. In 1919 on his return to Canada, after two years in hospital, he was appointed supervisor for the soldier settlement board for the maritime provinces and some months later accepted the position of livestock commissioner for the province of Saskatchewan.

DO FINE LACEWORK

Two fine pieces of lacework by a colonel and a group of cleverly-modeled lead soldiers by another colonel featured an exhibition in Glasgow, Scotland, of paintings, drawings, models and needlework by army men.

Salads lend themselves so readily to decorative effects that for many years they had no more important part in diet than just that. But now, besides being highly decorative they are regarded by nutritionists as vital to the well-balanced diet. Rich in minerals and vitamins, the mixed salad or lettuce alone is becoming a staple food.

LETUCE ALONE IS SALAD

Epurex prefer lettuce and salad in a separate bowl with wooden fork and spoon. Housewives prefer them because they are so easy to prepare. After following directions once or twice, anyone can make an excellent salad, and make it of just a few odds and ends but always beginning with fresh, crisp lettuce, either leaf or head.

HERE'S HOW

Into the salad bowl put salt, pepper and paprika in quantities your judgment suggests and your taste confirms. (Use extra salt (iodized) in summer to help prevent ill effects by heat.) Add three tablespoons of vinegar, preferably tarragon, and six or eight tablespoons of salad oil. Mix well. If you like, add a few sliced onions if you want to be seriously regarded as a salad maker, then chopped celery, shredded the green leafy chicory, water cress, grated carrot or raw cauliflower. Grated cheese well seasoned or definitely aged adds zest. Then the lettuce, a whole head leafed out. Stir up thoroughly and serve in generous portions with crackers or thin well-buttered real whole wheat bread.

RABBITS DON'T MIND

Rabbits may enjoy wilted lettuce, humans, especially youngsters don't. There'd be fewer salad-refusers if the vegetables, fruit and lettuce were always appetizingly fresh and crisp.

EVERY DAY IS SALAD DAY

There is a salad for every day in the year and it is important to develop your taste for them because of constant shortages of canned goods. A postal card to the West Coast Division, Bureau of Canada, 111 Avenue Road, Toronto, Ontario, will bring you a free vitamin chart for ready reference and a booklet "Salads that are Different."

The Individual Citizen's Army

A Weekly Column About This And That In Our Canadian Army.

By Alan Maurice Irvin

Some of the men who come in for more than their percentage of wisecracks in the Canadian, or the British, or the American—and probably in the German and Japanese, for that matter—Army are the Intelligence Officers. The reason is obvious—but the facts don't substantiate the kidding.

Those of us on the outside are apt to think of "Secret Service" and to conjure up visions of daring spies who disguise themselves as organ-grinders or vegetable salesmen or glamorous syrens or something like that. People like E. Phillips Oppenheimer are responsible for that idea.

I am not saying that there is not a certain percentage of clever espionage work done by the intelligence staffs of all armies but I do know that for every disguised operative who sneaks around in enemy territory there are a hundred careful, meticulous workers who spend long hours in offices at General Staff Headquarters sifting little bits of information that reach them from many sources.

They have a long, trying and arduous job to do, a job that calls for keen analysis, infinite painstaking—which has been called "genius"—devotion to duty and practical imagination. Nothing is too trivial for them to note, nothing so big that it can hide wanted facts from them. As you follow through the organization of your Army you find intelligence officers at Division, Brigade and Unit Headquarters all engaged in the vastly important job of gathering information that will be of value to the High Command.

How do you imagine, for instance, that our official communiques are able to state that "so many men and guns composed the opposing force?"

Don't think that some prisoner broke down and told it. To begin with no individual soldier below the rank of a general would know it. And it must be remembered, International Law protects a soldier from answering questions other than his name, rank, etc., if he is captured. That is, of course, when you are dealing with an enemy who respects International Law.

But when you have a number of intelligence officers, trained in their jobs, questioning a large number of prisoners on different parts of the front and rapidly forwarding their information through the channels provided to a central point where it is all correlated and analyzed it is surprising to the layman how much accurate information of incalculable value to the General Staff can be obtained even from answers that adhere to the instructions given to all soldiers to reveal nothing of their side's dispositions to their captors.

The same thing applies to the innocent little remarks some of us make at times to our friends, or to casual strangers we meet on the train or in a street car or at some gathering. We may think we are being very circumspect, we may feel that the information that our next door neighbour's boy is home on his last leave does not convey anything. It doesn't in itself, especially if we have been very careful not to say whether he is going east or west—but, and this is a big but, if in five or six other towns five or six other persons let out similar information something like this may happen.

Let us assume that the five or six soldiers referred to are from three or four different units. The innocent remarks are collected by enemy agents and relayed to a central point. At once it is known that in the next few days a contingent of however many troops those four units represent is going overseas. To that same point come little bits of other information—gathered, for instance, in a tavern or coffee shop near a railway yard where a yard foreman or one of his helpers innocently remarks to a colleague that he has "to make up a 14-car special tomorrow for the port of Suchandsuch." The central correlator of information has an approximation of the time and size of the movement.

That's all he needs! The next step is to send word to a raider command that within so many days a troop convoy may be expected to move from "Suchandsuch." Simple, isn't it?

So let's keep our mouths shut. And let's ask no questions of our soldier, sailor and airman friends.

On the other hand, don't forget that the Intelligence Officer of the Unit or Headquarters near you will be very interested in anything you have to tell him that you think may be of use in his work.

And while we are on the subject of helping people to do their jobs, here is some intelligence work we can do in the Individual Citizen's Army. The Wartime Prices and Trade Board is fighting an enemy that will be as dangerous after the war as the common foes are today, the enemy of Post-war Inflation.

The Board maintains an intelligence system on somewhat the same lines as the Army. Not a regiment of snipers but a number of trained businessmen whose job it is to watch for the infiltration of uncontrolled inflation behind our economic lines. They, too, note little bits of unrelated information that filter in from all over the country and from their correlation of these facts are able to determine how to dispose their forces.

If you know of anything that is contributing to higher prices tell the nearest representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. He will hold your name in confidence and you help him to fight your economic battles.

Boost Wheat Production

British Farmers May Have To Work At Night

Agriculture Minister Hudson told the House of Commons that plans for increasing wheat acreage in Britain might necessitate night work for farmers.

He said the area under wheat would be increased by 600,000 acres and if certain arrangements we are discussing now mature, farmers will be expected to work by night as well as by day.

RATIONING OF TEA AND COFFEE BRINGS FURTHER RESTRICTIONS TO CANADIAN HOUSEHOLDERS

Ottawa.—The ever-tightening pinch of war brought further restriction to Canadian eating habits with announcement by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that tea and coffee will be couponed—rations from August 3rd. The order, limiting consumption for each person to one ounce of tea or four ounces of coffee a week, but not both, follows by a month the coupon rationing of sugar on a basis of one-half pound per person per week. Gasoline has been rationed for several months with the unit varying across the country.

Canadians now get the same amount of sugar but less tea than do the people of Britain, where the weekly ration basis per person is two ounces of tea and eight ounces of sugar, against one ounce and eight ounces, respectively, in Canada. Coffee is not rationed for Britons, who are light coffee-drinkers. The board estimated the ration allocation of tea or coffee for each person would make about 12½ cups a week, but the quantities used by each individual would vary that figure somewhat.

For the next five weeks the ration coupons to be used are the "A-B-C-D-E" coupons when rationing of sugar went into effect. The sugar ration tickets, numbered 1 to 5, are at the bottom of the card.

After Sept. 8, the board said, there will be permanent coupon ration books.

"The tea and coffee rations are one ounce of tea per person per week or four ounces of coffee per person per week," said a board statement announcing the extension of coupon rationing to the two beverages.

"Each one of the lettered coupons entitles the ration card holder to one ounce of tea or four ounces of coffee, but not both."

"All five ration coupons may be used immediately."

"Ration cards issued for children under 12 cannot be used for tea and coffee purchases."

Up to now tea and coffee rationing has been on the "honor system", with Canadians instructed to cut their tea consumption to one-half of normal and coffee consumption to one-quarter. The honor system was used for sugar rationing up to July 1 when the shift to coupons was made on an experimental basis.

At that time it was said the coupon plan would be extended to other commodities as the need arose.

"Equitable distribution and prudent conservation of existing supplies are the objectives of the tea and coffee rationing," the board said. The statement emphasized the shipping difficulties which stand in the way of obtaining large quantities of the two beverages which must be imported.

"The rationing plan is designed to ensure all tea and coffee drinkers getting a fair share and, at the same time, to guard against any failure of supply during the next several months when it is expected further supplies will be obtained from abroad.

The glider reached an altitude of 5,800 feet in the course of a two-hour flight which included a forced spin, from which it recovered with ease, and various types of dives. It was towed into the air by a Tiger Moth plane and released at 1,380 feet.

BEEF CATTLE

Move To Supply Cattle For Feed Lots East And West

Ottawa.—J. G. Taggart, foods administrator of the wartime prices and trade board, told members of the beef cattle advisory committee here that efforts would be made to reach an early decision in the matter of assuring sufficient supplies of feeder cattle for the feed lots in the east and west.

Addressing the concluding session of a two-day conference, Mr. Taggart said such efforts would be made by the Wartime Food Corporation, crown company which buys at export prices, cattle intended for export and diverts the beef to the domestic market.

A pre-board statement quoted Mr. Taggart as saying the corporation would attempt to co-ordinate the viewpoints of eastern and western cattle interests with the object of assuring a continuous flow of finished beef throughout the year for Canadian consumers.

The viewpoint of the western ranchers who provide the chief supplies of feeder stock, was placed before the conference by George Ross of Aden, Alta., president of the Short Grass Cattlemen's Association and vice-president of the Western Stock Growers' Association.

Early last month the director of the British security control in the United Kingdom and the head of that branch in U.S. conferred in Ottawa with representatives of the justice and defence departments on intelligence matters.

SECURITIES CONTROL BRANCH TO GUARD AGAINST SABOTAGE AND ESPIONAGE IN CANADA

Ottawa.—Organization of a securities control branch of the R.C.M.P. to guard against espionage and sabotage in Canada was described in the House of Commons by Justice Minister St. Laurent.

He said the first group of 60 now being organized for training and the special force is to be built up to 700, its personnel drawn largely from qualified men now in the armed forces.

Two officers from British securities control body are in Ottawa to assist in training and the corps will be organized in groups of 60 with a training period of about six weeks.

"The intention is to have a system which will enable us to check on every person entering Canada and on every person leaving," the minister said.

Mr. St. Laurent made his statement in compliance with a request some time ago from Conservative House Leader Hanson, and after questions by Paul Martin (Lib., Essex East).

Mr. Martin asked if there were any possibility that submarines had landed saboteurs on the Canadian coast as had been done in U.S. where eight Germans were picked up by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Mr. St. Laurent said the R.C.M.P., the British securities control and the F.B.I. were in constant and close communication on this problem.

No persons had been apprehended in Canada who might appear to have been landed here for sabotage or espionage purposes, he said. A very careful check had been made.

There had been a conference here a year ago with heads of the British security control and an order-in-council last Aug. 20 had authorized the formation of a security control in Halifax.

Early last month the director of the British security control in the United Kingdom and the head of that branch in U.S. conferred in Ottawa with representatives of the justice and defence departments on intelligence matters.

It had been pointed out by the Canadian authorities that there had not been a single spy apprehended in Canada. The British authorities had suggested this did not necessarily mean there were none in this country.

It had been suggested that Canada should have a security control branch of the R.C.M.P., so that intelligence work of this kind might be similar in the United Kingdom, U.S. and the Dominion.

On July 14 an order-in-council was passed authorizing creation of a force of 700 and an appropriation of $1,458,000 for the first year's operations.

It was the intention to have lawyers with experience in practice become officers of this branch, with specially qualified men as personnel, drawn from the army where possible.

He said Defence Minister Ralston was reluctant to release men from the forces for this purpose but was cooperating in organization of the first group of 60.

The new organization will work in closest co-operation with the British security control which, the minister said, had representatives in most South American ports, throughout the U.S. and in other quarters of the globe.

There had been close co-operation for a long time between the R.C.M.P. and the F.B.I., with a Canadian officer in the Washington headquarters of the latter body and an F.B.I. representative in R.C.M.P. headquarters.

ANOTHER LARGE CONTINGENT OF CANADIAN TROOPS HAS ARRIVED SAFELY IN BRITAIN

A British Port.—Thousands of Canadian soldiers, eager for a second front and hundreds of ground crew for R.C.A.F. squadrons have arrived in Britain.

The large contingent had a smooth crossing from Canada which was practically without incident. Escorting warships dropped a few depth-chARGE patterns but it is not known definitely that the convoy was shadowed by submarines.

The army contingent included officers and other ranks of headquarters of an armored division expected to reach Britain before the end of the year.

There were reinforcements for almost every infantry regiment overseas and a large detachment of ordnance soldiers, hundreds of tank regiment reinforcements, a draft for the forestry corps and new troops for the army service corps and engineer, artillery, medical and signal units.

The air force men were mostly ground crew but there were a few pilots. One trooper carried $4 Canadian fire fighters for Britain.

It was a twilight arrival and a crowd of civilians aboard a ferry at one landing stage cheered and waved to the Canadians.

After a quiet passage with the Atlantic like a millpond most of the way, these thousands of new troops entrained for camps and scattered from the Scottish Highlands to the English channel.

Although escorting warships dropped a few depth-bombs, it was not known definitely if submarines shadowed the convoy and the voyage passed practically without incident.

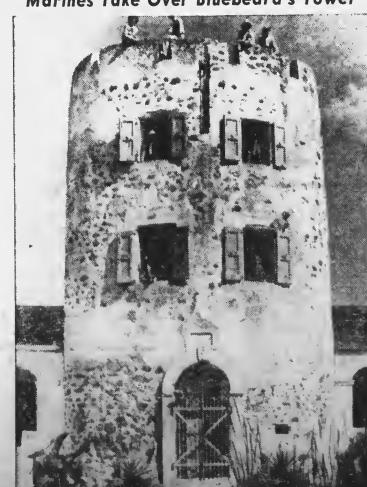

Hal Mills of Moose Jaw, Sask., a Canadian Legion sports officer who wore the blue uniform of the Royal Canadian Air Force was among the Canadians arriving in Britain on the latest movement of men overseas.

"The Legion's going to be important to these men after the war," he said. "After the First Great War we tried for five or six years to get solid organization functioning."

"Now, these men will have a sound, functioning organization behind them when they come home, and they'll need it."

Mills said he has been engaged in boys work since he returned from the First Great War.
